

Occupational Socialisation and the Subjective Warrant

Michelle Flemons

Supervisors: Prof. David Kirk and Dr. Ashley Casey

University of Bedfordshire

Research Questions

- RQ 1
- To what extent might the concept of the 'subjective warrant' remain an adequate means of determining the basis for an individual's decision to become a physical education teacher?

Research Questions

- RQ 2
- What are the subjective warrants of individuals from two different PETE courses (one UG, the other PG) at one university at a) point of entry into the course, b) after one year of teaching and c) after five years of teaching, and what changes to their subject warrants over time do teachers identify?

Research Questions

- RQ₃
- How does an individual's subjective warrant compare with their motivation to teach physical education?